CASE BACKGROUND:

Blue Owl is a private asset management firm that specializes in alternative investment solutions that has three major product platforms: Credit, GP Strategic Capital, and Real Assets. The company's direct lending business manages six business development companies ("BDCs").

The complaint alleges that, throughout the Class Period, Defendants made materially false and/or misleading statements, as well as failed to disclose material facts about the company's business, operations, and prospects. Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) Blue Owl was experiencing significant pressure on its asset base from BDC redemptions; (2) this pressure cause liquidity issues that would be likely to limit or halt certain BDC's redemptions; and (3) as a result of the foregoing, Defendants' statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially false and misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis at all relevant times.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired Blue Owl securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the Blue Owl class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member's claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as
