Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) Chow was the subject of a fraudulent stock promotion scheme involving social media misinformation and impersonated financial professionals; (2) Chow securities were at a unique risk of a sustained suspension in trading by the NYSE and severe volatility-induced decline; (3) the sole underwriter on the IPO had been fined and censured by FINRA for failing to have a reasonable system in place to identify potentially suspicious deposits of low-priced securities; and (4) as a result of the foregoing, Defendants' statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially false and misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis at all relevant times.

WHY DID CHOW'S STOCK DROP?

On December 10, 2025, a surge of sell orders hit Chow's stock, causing it to plummet to the extent that it was halted from trading by the NYSE within approximately two minutes. That day, Chow's stock continued to face a sudden collapse, as well as multiple halts of trading by the NYSE due to volatility from market manipulation that caused Chow's stock to surge following its IPO, despite there being no news, changes in profile, or information from the company. On this news, Chow's stock fell more than 84%.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired Chow securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the Chow class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member's claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as a lead plaintiff through counsel of his/her choice, or may choose to do nothing and remain an inactive class member.
