The Pinterest, Inc. class action lawsuit was filed on behalf of those who purchased or otherwise acquired Pinterest, Inc. ("Pinterest") (NYSE: PINS) securities between February 7, 2025 and February 12, 2026, inclusive (the "Class Period"). Captioned Uziel v. Pinterest, Inc., Case No. 3:26-cv-02745 (N.D. Cal.), the Pinterest class action lawsuit alleges that Pinterest and/or certain of its officers and/or directors violated federal securities laws by making false or misleading statements and/or omitted to disclose material information.

If you lost money as a result of your Pinterest investment and want to find out more about this action and your rights, fill out the form on this page or contact attorney Jonathan Najj, Esq. of KTMC by calling (484) 270-1453 or via e-mail at info@ktmc.com. Lead plaintiff motions must be filed with the court no later than May 29, 2026.

COMPLAINT ALLEGATION SUMMARY:

The complaint alleges that, throughout the Class Period, Defendants made materially false and/or misleading statements, as well as failed to disclose material facts about the company's business, operations, and prospects. Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) Pinterest was experiencing and/or was likely to experience reduced revenues from its advertising partners; (2) Pinterest overstated its ability to manage the impact of U.S. tariffs on the macroeconomic environment in which the company operated, including the foreseeable impact on Pinterest's advertising partners; (3) the impact of the foregoing on Pinterest's advertising revenues was significant enough that Pinterest was facing and/or likely to face an imminent restructuring; and (4) as a result of the foregoing, Defendants' positive statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis.

WHY DID PINTEREST'S STOCK DROP?

After multiple drops to its stock price on November 4, 2025 and January 27, 2026, in response to the company's disclosures, the final drop came on February 12, 2026. On that date, Pinterest released its fourth quarter 2025 financial results and revealed quarterly revenue of $1.32 billion, below consensus estimates of $1.33 billion, and first quarter 2026 revenue guidance of $951 million to $971 million, below consensus estimates of $980.6 million. Pinterest attributed the poor results to "an exogenous shock . . . related to tariffs," and stated that the company "expect[s] these [tariff] headwinds will continue and may become slightly more pronounced in Q1". On this news, Pinterest's stock price fell $3.12 per share, or 16.8%, to close at $15.42 per share on February 13, 2026.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired Pinterest securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the Pinterest class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member's claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as a lead plaintiff through counsel of his/her choice, or may choose to do nothing and remain an inactive class member.
