The Trip.com Group Limited securities fraud class action lawsuit was filed on behalf of those who purchased or otherwise acquired Trip.com Group Limited ("Trip.com") (NASDAQ: TCOM) securities between April 30, 2024, and January 13, 2026, inclusive (the "Class Period"). Captioned De Wilde v. Trip.com Group Limited, et al, Case No. 1:26-cv-01420 (E.D.N.Y.), the Trip.com class action lawsuit alleges that Trip.com and/or certain of its officers and/or directors violated federal securities laws by making false or misleading statements and/or omitted to disclose material information.

If you experienced losses as a result of your Trip.com investment and want to find out more about this action and your rights, fill out the form on this page or contact attorney Jonathan Naji, Esq. of KTMC by calling (484) 270-1453 or via e-mail at info@ktmc.com. Lead plaintiff motions must be filed with the court no later than May 11, 2026.

COMPLAINT ALLEGATION SUMMARY:

The complaint alleges that, throughout the Class Period, Defendants made materially false and/or misleading statements, as well as failed to disclose material adverse facts about Trip.com's business and operations. Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) Trip.com recklessly understated the regulatory risk facing the company as a result of its monopolistic business activities; and (2) as a result, Defendants' positive statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis at all relevant times.

WHY DID TRIP.COM'S STOCK DROP?

On January 14, 2026, Bloomberg published an article revealing that "China is investigating [Trip.com] over alleged antitrust conduct," and the "State Administration for Market Regulation accused [Trip.com] of abusing its market position and engaging in monopolistic practices." The article further revealed that, in September 2025, the market regulator had "summoned Trip.com for violations of rules against setting 'unfair restrictions' on merchants' transactions and prices."

On this news, Trip.com's stock price fell $12.90 per share, or approximately 17.05%, to close at $62.78 per share on January 14, 2026.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired Trip.com securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the Trip.com class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member's claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as a lead plaintiff through counsel of his/her choice, or may choose to do nothing and remain an inactive class member.
