The EquipmentShare.com, Inc. class action lawsuit was filed on behalf of those who purchased or otherwise acquired EquipmentShare.com, Inc. ("EquipmentShare") (NASDAQ: EQPT) (1) Class A common stock pursuant and/or traceable to the registration statement and prospectus (collectively, the "Registration Statement") issued in connection with the initial public offering ("IPO") conducted on or about January 23, 2026; and/or (2) securities between January 23, 2026 and June 23, 2026, inclusive (the "Class Period"). Captioned Jupiter Parra v. EquipmentShare.com, Inc., No. 26-cv-06288 (S.D.N.Y.), the EquipmentShare class action lawsuit alleges that EquipmentShare and/or certain of its officers and/or directors violated federal securities laws by making false or misleading statements and/or omitted to disclose material information.

If you lost money as a result of your EquipmentShare investment and want to find out more about this action and your rights, fill out the form on this page or contact attorney Jonathan Naji, Esq. of KTMC by calling (484) 270-1453 or via e-mail at info@ktmc.com. Lead plaintiff motions must be filed with the court no later than September 21, 2026.

COMPLAINT ALLEGATION SUMMARY:

The complaint alleges that, in the Registration Statement and throughout the Class Period, Defendants made materially false and/or misleading statements, as well as failed to disclose material facts about the company's business, operations, and prospects. Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) EquipmentShare participated in additional undisclosed related party transactions; (2) the company had not terminated or substantially reduced some transactions with entities owned and/or controlled by the co-founders; and (3) as a result of the foregoing, Defendants' statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially false and misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis at all relevant times.

WHY DID EQUIPMENTSHARE'S STOCK DROP?

On June 24, 2026 Umibōzu Research published a report alleging in part that “undisclosed related-party transactions...have netted entities affiliated with EquipmentShare founders “at least $77 million, with the true figure potentially running substantially higher.” Upon news of this revelation and others, the price of EquipmentShare’s stock fell more than 6%, followed by a decline of nearly 12% the following day.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired EquipmentShare securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the EquipmentShare class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member’s claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as a lead plaintiff through counsel of his/her choice, or may choose to do nothing and remain an inactive class member.
