COMPLAINT ALLEGATION SUMMARY:

The complaint alleges that, throughout the Class Period, Defendants made materially false and/or misleading statements, as well as failed to disclose material facts about the company's business, operations, and prospects. Specifically, Defendants misrepresented and/or failed to disclose that: (1) the accounting treatment for certain customer and supplier agreements and related matters required additional review; (2) as a result, the company would delay the release of its fourth quarter and full year 2026 financial results; (3) there was reason to doubt the effectiveness of the company's internal controls and procedures; and (4) as a result of the foregoing, Defendants' statements about the company's business, operations, and prospects were materially false and misleading and/or lacked a reasonable basis at all relevant times.

WHY DID ENDAVA'S STOCK DROP?

On September 21, 2026, Endava announced that its Chief Financial Officer, Mark Thurston, was on administrative leave "upon the recommendation of the Company's Audit Committee of the Board...pending the conclusion of an ongoing investigation," after "outside auditors rais[ed] concerns about the Company's accounting treatment of certain customer and supplier agreements and related matters." On this news, the price of Endava's stock fell more than 24%.

THE LEAD PLAINTIFF PROCESS:

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 permits any investor who purchased or acquired Endava securities during the Class Period to seek appointment as lead plaintiff in the Endava class action lawsuit. A lead plaintiff is a representative party that acts on behalf of other class members in directing the litigation. In order to be appointed lead plaintiff, the Court must determine that the class member's claim is typical of the claims of other class members, and that the class member will adequately represent the class. Your ability to share in any recovery is not, however, affected by the decision whether or not to serve as a lead plaintiff. Filling out the online form above or communicating with any counsel is not necessary to participate or share in any recovery achieved in this case. Any member of the purported class may move the court to serve as a lead plaintiff through counsel of his/her choice, or may choose to do nothing and remain an inactive class member.
